BOARD OF PROPERTY AND LAND OFFICE BUREAU.

In the report for the year ending November 30, 1900, a statement in extensio was given of a very important case which received the attention of the Board during that year, growing out of an application for the back channel of the Ohio river. This case is likely to occupy so much time and attention of the Judicial Department of the State Government that it seems to have been a wise act to have published the entire proceedings incident to the application of R. A. Phillips and others for the back channel of the Ohio river, as all the data pertaining to the case is exhibited in the most concise, complete and accurate manner.

Since the close of the year covered by the report for last year, the title has been completed by the granting of patents for all the land applied for except in a few cases where abutting owners claim the right, under the act of 1897, to make the application in their own rights as abutting owners. The property is all valuable and the purchases from the State rest entirely upon the efficacy of the act of 1897, which gave the Secretary of Internal Affairs power to grant warrants and patents for strips of the beds of navigable rivers. This act is entitled "An act in relation to patenting lands lying within or along navigable rivers." The act is an ambiguous one, and it does seem that it is impossible to adjudicate its provisions in a way to give any force and efficacy to the enactment. The fact is that the State is in great need of wholesome legislation with reference to the disposition of such vacant or unappropriated lands as it still retains.

In the earlier days of the history of the Commonwealth it was all right to encourage the citizens to buy portions of the State's domain, even to the extent of practically giving the land away, for the improvement of the land by cultivation developed agricultural interests to a wonderful extent, and also led to the development of other material interests such as mining and lumbering.

The idea which controlled the legislation of the State in the disposition of the public domain, served its purpose many decades ago, and the retention upon our statute books of laws which practically give away valuable property has escaped the attention of the law-making power of the Commonwealth altogether too long. There is to-day no reason why the State should dispose of valuable coal or timber lands, or other valuable property, at a price below its actual or market value. In previous reports of this Department, attention has been called to the desirability of making changes in the direction indicated.

During the last session of the Pennsylvania Legislature, that of 1901, the Department took aggressive grounds on this subject. In the early part of the session a bill was introduced into the Senate which is designated as Senate bill No. 123. The following is a copy of this bill:

AN ACT

Reative to the issuing or warrants to survey unwarranted real estate of the Commonwealth, validating warrants heretofore issued and granting of patents on the returns of survey on such warrants.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That the Secretary of Internal Affairs be and he is hereby authorized and empowered to grant applications for warrants to survey all manner of unwarranted real estate of the Commonwealth of whatsoever character and wheresoever the same may be situate under existing rules of the Department of Internal Affairs, and upon the return of survey and payment of the purchase money as now prescribed by law for vacant lands the said Secretary of Internal Affairs shall issue patent for the same as per such return.

Section 2. That all warrants authorizing the survey of vacant lands or of real estate of any character heretofore issued by the Secretary of Internal Affairs, whether by order and direction of the Board of Property or otherwise, that have not been abandoned or rejected are hereby approved and confirmed and shall be deemed good and valid in law as to the premises embraced in the same, and their legality and regularity shall in no wise be attacked or questioned, whether granted and issued in pursuance of general or special law, and on compliance by the warrantee, his heirs or assigns, with the provisions of the act or acts of General Assembly pursuant to which the warrant was issued regarding the return of survey and the payment of the purchase money, the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall, and he is hereby empowered, authorized and directed to issue patent for all real estate included and embraced in such return, conveying the same irrevocably to the patentee, his heirs and assigns forever.

Section 3. All acts, general, local and special, inconsistent or conflicting herewith, and all acts, general, local and special, granting any special use or uses in public lands of said kinds be and the same are hereby repealed.

When this bill reached the Department, it was read and carefully considered. To compare this bill with the laws heretofore existing, it must be understood that authority only exists for the Secretary of Internal Affairs to grant warrants for lands and islands and in some cases for strips along navigable rivers, where the strips referred to have not been used for navigation for a period upwards of three years. This statement practically covers the scope of authority of the Secretary of Internal Affairs with reference to the subject matter of warrants for the survey of the vacant lands of the Commonwealth. The only exception to this is that in the counties of Allegheny and Fayette a fragment remained of the act of 1848, which authorized the granting of warrants for the beds of navigable rivers, but that power does not exist in any of the other counties of the Commonwealth.

A careful reading of said bill, No. 123, above referred to, will carry conviction as to the sweeping scope of authority which it was intended should be given, to grant any kind of real estate owned by the State, on application made in the usual manner and for the paltry sum of money still authorized by the laws of the Commonwealth, as to the price per acre.

In this Senate bill, authority is given to grant warrants for "all manner of unwarranted real estate of the Commonwealth of whatever character and wherever the same may be situated." If this bill had become a law, it would have authorized the sale of all the lakes, all the rivers, the frontage on Lake Erie at Erie, and the peninsula in Presque Isle bay, and all that the Commonwealth would have received as purchase money would have been twenty-six and two-thirds cents an acre.

Another remarkable provisions of this act is found in section two, wherein there was an attempt to make good any defective titles without regard to rights that might be interfered with or properties that might be confiscated thereby. The provisions of this bill were so extraordinary, so broad in their proposed application, that the Department seemed to be justified in preparing and having introduced a measure which would insure to the Commonwealth some consideration for the property which would be disposed of in case this proposed Senate bill 123 should become a law. For this purpose a bill was prepared, of which the following is a copy:

AN ACT

To regulate the granting of title for vacant or unappropriated land by the Commonwealth and to adjust the price at which said land may be sold.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met, and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same, That whenever an application is filed in the Department of Internal Affairs for any description or kind of vacant or unappropriated land, there shall be deposited therewith the purchase money and warrant fee now provided by law for such land, and before granting a warrant in pursuance of such application it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Internal Affairs to offer the land so applied for at public sale in the following manner: Immediately upon receipt of such application and the payment of the purchase money and warrant fee aforesaid, the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall prepare a notice for publication and the same shall be published in two newspapers of general circulation in the county in which the land applied for is situated. Said notice shall be published for three consecutive weeks and the proof of such publication shall be filed in the Land Office Bureau of the Department of Internal Affairs. The publication shall contain a notice of the filing of said application and shall give the name or names of the applicant or applicants and shall fix the time and place in the county where the land applied for is situated, when and where the land shall be exposed to public sale; it shall give a full description of the land, as contained in the application, and any other information which shall insure freedom to all in making bids for the same. After such publication shall have been made and proof of the same filed as herein provided, the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall expose or cause to be exposed, to public sale, as set forth in said notice the land so applied for, and in his discretion may adjourn such public sale from time to time whenever the interests of the State may be served by such adjournment. If at such sale there is no greater price offered than the price now fixed by law for vacant land, the warrant shall be granted to the applicant. If a higher price shall be offered, then the warrant shall be granted in the usual manner to the highest bidder upon the payment of the purchase money and fees, as indicated by said highest bidder, which purchase money and fees shall be paid within sixty days from the time when such highest bid shall have been made: Provided, That in case the warrant is not granted to the original applicant, the purchase money and warrant fee deposited with the application shall be returned to such applicant, and that any expense that may be incurred in the survey of the land applied for or in the execution of this law shall be paid by the Commonwealth and all purchase money and fees derived by virtue of the granting of warrants and patents under this section shall be paid into the State Treasury: And provided further, That nothing in this act shall be construed as affect pre-emption rights heretofore acquired under the laws of the Commonwealth, and that hereafter there shall not be granted in any county of the Commonwealth any warrants or patents for the beds of navigable rivers for any purpose whatever.

Section 2. That whenever there are vacant or unappropriated lands adjoining or adjacent to the State forestry reservations now or hereafter established or wherever applications may be made for such adjoining or adjacent vacant or unappropriated lands and the State Forestry Reservation Commission shall consider such lands desirable for forest culture or forest preservation, and shall request that such lands be conveyed to the Forestry Reservation Commission, it shall be the duty of the Secretary of Internal Affairs to grant warrants and patents to the said Forestry Reservation Commission in the usual manner for such vacant or unappropriated lands without any charge for purchase money and fees: Provided, That in case any citizen shall have filed an application for any such adjoining or adjacent lands which may be taken by the Forestry Reservation Commission, the purchase money and fees deposited with the application shall be returned to the applicant.

Section 3. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

A careful reading of this bill will convince anyone of its importance, its practicability and its just application with reference to the interests of the State and the citizens thereof. To more completely comprehend this provision, it must be remembered that the State for the last two or three years has undertaken not only to protect such primeaval forests as are still standing, but also to make provision for the rehabilitation of forests so far as may be possible. To this end, a Commission has been established, designated the Pennsylvania Forestry Reservation Commission, whose powers are to purchase bodies of land with a view of protecting the young forest growth from fire and depredation, and also to cultivate forests on the State lands and encourage forest growth on lands held by citizens of the State.

In this bill, referred to above, which was prepared by this office and introduced as Senate bill No. 183, provision was made that in case of application for vacant land, it should become the duty of the Secretary of Internal Affairs to refer the application to the Pennsylvania Forestry Commission, with a view of ascertaining whether the land applied for was such land as the State should own for the purpose of forest preservation and forest cultivation. As most of the vacant land still existing in the State is forest and mountain land, it is not a violent presumption to assume that in many cases it might adjoin or be adjacent to the forestry reservations which the State has already established, and if, on examination by the Forestry Commission, it should be determined that the lands applied for were desirable for forest culture or forest preservation, and the Commission should so report to the Secretary of Internal Affairs, then under this proposed law the Secretary of Internal Affairs was to be authorized to convey the land applied for to the Forestry Reservation Commission, for the use of the State for forest preservation and culture.

If the Forestry Reservation Commission should determine that the land applied for was not desirable for forest culture or preservation, then it would become the duty of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, under the proposed law, to offer the land so applied for at public sale and this to be done after due public notice of the time and place of the proposed public sale. Provision was made for the publication in newspapers of general circulation, so as to insure thorough public notice, that all who might desire could be present and bid on the vacant land applied for. This would have insured to the State a reasonable consideration for the property which it owns instead of the insignificant price which it now receives of twenty-six and two-third cents an acre.

The bill which this Department thus prepared and had introduced, passed the Senate as well as did Senate bill 123 above referred to, but it became known to those who seemed to have an interest in Senate bill 123 that Senate bill 183 created a conflict of interests, and the result was that Senate bill 123 was recommitted and its friends and others defeated Senate bill 183, whose provisions were prepared especially to protect the State and conserve its interests.

From this statement of the proposed legislation, its introduction, its consideration and its disposition, it is seen that the State is left in the same position that it was in before the session of 1901 with reference to the price that shall be paid for vacant land of the Commonwealth. It does not matter how valuable any piece of property may be, whether it be along the Allegheny, the Monongahela or the Ohio river, within the limits of the city of Pittsburg, and worth, perhaps, thousands of dollars an acre, it all goes for twenty-six and two-thirds cents an acre, because the Legislature, for some cause or other, failed to adopt the wholesome and wise provisions which it was the intention of the Department should become a part of the laws of the Commonwealth, to control the price and the manner of disposing of the public lands whose title still remains in the State.

During the year there were a number of important cases arising from applications for vacant land, that demanded the attention of the Board of Property. The cases considered were those having reference to the law of location and pre-emption and improvement rights. In most of the cases that came before the Board, the rules established by the Supreme Court as to location enabled the Board to pass rapidly upon the merits of each application, and yet there are new complications arising continually that seem to make it impossible to apply the well-established rules of location to the cases in hand.

For instance, a short time ago, an application was made for vacant land and a contention arose as to the location of a senior survey. If this senior survey was located where the caveator claimed it to be, then there could be no room for the application for vacant land. The problem, therefore, arose as to the proper location of the senior warrant. On all sides of the sketch of the survey vacant land was called for and while several living corners were made or appeared to have been made when the surveyor executed this senior warrant, yet there was no evidence at this time that any of these corners had ever been there, and, therefore, the important elements to determine the location of a tract were entirely wanting, the Supreme Court having decided that the first and best evidences are marks upon the ground; that the second element to be considered is calls for adjoiners, and that in the absence of marks upon the ground or calls for adjoiners, the tract must be located by the courses and distances as returned by the deputy or county surveyor. In the case of the senior survey under consideration, there being no marks found upon the ground and no calls for adjoiners, as all the land called for was vacant, the Board was left to locate this senior tract by the courses and distances as returned by the deputy surveyor, in conformity with the opinion heretofore referred to of the Supreme Court, but in this case it was found impossible to locate the tract by courses and distances as there was absolutely no point of beginning that could be found. The rules of the Supreme Court were, therefore, defective as applied to this case in that there was no possible way of locating this senior warrant by these well-defined and well-known rules.

This reference is made to show that every year there are new questions arising with reference to the adjudication of land laws of the Commonwealth. These adjudications require the best thought of the best skilled lawyers in order that the legal questions thus raised may be properly disposed of, for it goes without saying that the land laws of the Commonwealth are among the most intricate and the most difficult to understand of any that exist either in the common or statute laws.

Since the close of the fiscal year covered by the last report, to wit, from the 30th of November, 1900, to the 30th of November, 1901, there have been filed in this Department applications for vacant land, as follows:

The statement above shows how many pieces of vacant land have remained unappropriated during the entire history of the State, and that there has never been any change of title from the original owners of the soil, whoever they may have been, whether the aborigines, William Penn or the Commonwealth. It is presumed that there are still remaining a number of strips and pieces of land which will be the subjects of application, warrant, survey and patent many years hence. If this is true, then it is not yet too late to pass some desirable laws to insure to the Commonwealth a respectable consideration for the property to which it gives title.

In connection with these observations on questions that are brought to issue before the Board of Property and before the Secretary of Internal Affairs, in regard to the reception of applications, the issuance of warrants, the return of surveys and the granting of patents, it may not be improper to refer to a case which went into the courts a few years ago and was commented upon to some extent by the public press.

This case grew out of two applications that were filed by me, while acting in the capacity of Deputy Secretary. Before proceeding to a review of this case, it seems entirely proper to ascertain the law that existed at its inception, with reference to granting title to vacant lands.

Ever since the Land Office was opened by the Proprietaries, under the William Penn rights, the public domain within the confines of the colony and the State of Pennsylvania was subject to application, warrant and survey. The intent of the Proprietaries during colonial days, and the intent of the Legislature, as disclosed by the statutes since the formation of the State, was that the taking up of vacant land of the colony and the Commonwealth should be encouraged, and to this end the price fixed for these vacant lands was practically a nominal sum per acre, in order that the agricultural and all other material interests might be extended, developed and maintained. No restrictions were placed upon the purchase of land. Some formalities were prescribed by law, such as the verification of an application before a magistrate in the locality where the land applied for was situated, the payment of the purchase money at the time of the filing of the application, the payment of the fees to the deputy or county surveyor for the execution of the warrant when it was issued, and the payment of patent fees and additional charges when the survey was returned and a patent asked for. Practically, there were no other restrictions. Any one who could find vacant land within the domain of Pennsylvania, if he complied with these restrictions and paid the purchase money, could buy, and for more than 150 years did buy, such portions of the public domain as he might desire to own. There was absolutely nothing in the statutes of the Commonwealth that prevented any officer of the government from purchasing any vacant land which he might desire. Even the Governor himself was not prohibited by statute or any other law of the Commonwealth from making such purchases, it being the desire to dispose as rapidly as possible of the public domain, to the end that the material interests of the State might be developed and advanced.

It is also proper to say that there was no system adopted of surveying out the public lands before they were applied for. In the surveys of the public lands by the United States in all the western territories, they were surveyed out into tracts of uniform size and all numbered. Maps were made of these tracts so that it was easy to determine what lands had been sold and what lands were still owned by the government. But in Pennsylvania no such system existed and whenever a man found a piece of vacant land that, according to his own ideas, was desirable, he made an application for so many acres of the same as he desired, and the warrant granted in pursuance of this application authorized the deputy or county surveyor to survey to this man the land that he had so applied for.

As a result of this system, or rather lack of system, the whole of the State except the northwestern corner was surveyed in patches, which made it impossible for the officers of the Land Department to determine from records on file what lands within the limits of the State remained unwarranted and unpatented. The discovery, therefore, of vacant or unappropriated land in later years depended upon such searches as were made for it by surveyors and other parties who sought out or were familiar with the lines which marked the boundaries of tracts previously warranted and patented.

More than one hundred years ago Broadhead was Surveyor General of Pennsylvania, and while he held this office he purchased many thousand acres of land, paying to the Commonwealth the price prescribed by law, and securing from the Commonwealth the warrants and patents, in the same manner as other individuals of the Commonwealth who might desire to secure the ownership of portions of the public domain. The records of this office show that at one time Broadhead, while he was Surveyor General, granted to himself ten one-thousand acre tracts of land.

Also, subordinate officers of the Land Office, by complying strictly with the laws with reference to the payment of purchase money, the filing of applications, and the other restrictions, whenever they deemed proper, secured title from the Commonwealth to such tracts of land as they might desire.

So, too, did deputy and county surveyors procure warrants and in some instances execute their own warrants; that is, surveyed the land for which they had made application, and this action on their part was approved by the courts, and, indeed, by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.

From these observations, it is seen what had been the practices and what were the laws in existence in July, 1890, when the applications to which I have referred were made. The facts in this case are as follows:

In July, 1890, one William P. Mitchell, a distinguished county surveyor of Clinton county, and one O. J. Reese, a well-known and successful surveyor of Potter county, came to this office, and, having spent some time with the clerk in the Land Office Bureau in examining original surveys and warrants, asked for a conference with me. During this conference they advised me that they had discovered two tracts of vacant land in the county of Potter, and that they desired to make application for these vacant lands. As the purchase money amounted to some $500, a sum which they did not have at that time ready for use, they suggested that I pay the purchase money and fees to the State, and said that if I would do so, they would give me an undivided one-third part of the vacant lands which they had found.

After learning from them the location of the land with reference to other tracts, I was convinced that these lands were absolutely vacant and unappropriated, and as there had never been any question raised as to any official of the State Government applying for vacant lands, I accepted their proposition, but informed them that if I were to be interested in the lands, I would make application in my own name and after title was acquired would convey to them or their assignees the interest each was entitled to.

This understanding having been arrived at, applications were prepared in the usual way, and in accordance with the provisions of the act of 1874, were regularly filed, the purchase money absolutely paid at the time of the filing of the applications, and the publications, as required by law, were made in the papers nearest to the land applied for.

Caveats were filed against these two applications. One by William Gale and the other by F. H. Goodyear. It was alleged by both these caveators that the land applied for was embraced under other rights previously granted. The question raised, therefore, by the filing of these caveats was one of location. If the location as claimed by Gale and Goodyear were correct, then there would be no vacant land to answer the applications that I had made.

Under the law governing proceedings in the Land Office here a caveat is filed against the granting of a warrant, further proceedings are stayed until the questions raised by the caveats are determined by the Board of Property. The Board of Property, under the present law, is composed of the Attorney General, the Secretary of the Commonwealth and the Secretary of Internal Affairs.

These cases were promptly brought for consideration to the Board of Property, and as I was clerk of that Board, and I declined to act. None of the members of this Board except the Secretary of Internal Affairs knew that these cases were to come before them until they were in session and the list of cases was presented.

Both parties were represented by eminent attorneys, and after proper consideration, the Board was unanimous in its opinion that the land applied for was vacant and unappropriated, and directed that the warrants be granted in pursuance of the applications and the provisions of the law regulating the same. The Board at this time consisted of the Hon. W. S. Kirkpatrick, Attorney General; the Hon. J. H. Longenecker, Secretary of the Commonwealth, and General Thomas J. Stewart, Secretary of Internal Affairs, two of the members of this Board being distinguished lawyers and jurists.

It is proper to say that the attorney for the caveators raised the question of the right of the Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs to apply for vacant land. The Board was of the opinion that inasmuch as no law had ever been passed to prevent any State official from applying for vacant land, and in that it had been the universal practice for officers, clerks and employes of the State government to buy vacant land the same as other individuals, the objections offered by the attorney for the caveators should be overruled.

The findings of the Board of Property in this case are recorded on page 524 of Minute Book No. 11, Records of the Land Office Bureau, Department of Internal Affairs. After consideration of the case, the Board directed:

"After hearing the evidence of the witnesses sworn and the arguments of the respective counsels in the above cases, the Board dismissed the caveats and directed that warrants should be granted on the applications of the defendants."

Conforming to this decision of the Board of Property, warrants were granted and executed, returns of surveys made and the title completed from the Commonwealth by the granting of patents. The purchase money and fees on these tracts were turned into the State Treasury and have never been refunded.

Subsequent to the granting of patents, actions of ejectment were brought in the county of Potter by both Mr. Goodyear and Mr. Gale. But one of these cases was tried, that growing out of the ejectment proceedings brought by Mr. Goodyear.

The question first considered in the trial before the jury was that of location, the same as before the Board of Property, it being claimed by my attorney that no warrant or other office right had ever been granted for the land applied for, while on the other side it was claimed that a warrant granted about a century ago was located on the identical land embraced in the warrant and patent granted to me. If the contention of Mr. Goodyear could be established as a matter of law, then there would be no vacant land to answer the requirements of my warrant and patent. It is not important in the present consideration of this case to go into the discussion of the legal problems controlling location; however, it may not be improper to say that Mr. Goodyear's warrant could not be located where he claimed it to be without doing violence to the rules of location laid down by the Supreme Court. It was claimed by him that his warrant was located south of a warrant designated as 4724, while our contention was that it was located to the east of it. If located to the east of 4724, then the land I had applied for was vacant land at the time of making the application, but if located to the south of 4724, then there was no vacant land at the time of the filing of my application. A surveyor by the name of Ellis had surveyed a very large district embracing no small portion of what is now Potter county. A map was made of this district, which embraced more than 1,000 surveys, and there was absolutely no place for the location of 4714 except to the east of 4724 where corners and streams which closed the boundary lines of both tracts would conform to the return of survey, unless this 4714 tract was located to the east of 4724.

During the presentation of the evidence, Mr. Goodyear's attorney raised a legal proposition that as I was an officer of the State Government, I could not apply for vacant land. This legal proposition was sustained by the trial judge and the case went to the Supreme Court on that question alone. The case is reported in Pennsylvania State Reports No. 155, page 514. In this case the opinion was delivered by Mr. Justice Williams, May 22, 1893, and sustains the opinion of the court below that it is against public policy for an official in the capacity in which I served to make application for vacant land. The opinion of the court was based largely upon the decision theretofore made with reference to the disposition of property by executors, administrators and guardians. It was never thought that such laws applied to the State of Pennsylvania with reference to the disposition of public lands, for in the one case the executor, the administrator, or the guardian might, by his own malfeasance in office, or rather by lack of fidelity to the interests placed in his care, so arrange matters that the property disposed of would be sold at a smaller figure than the interests of his wards or the estate he represented demanded. But in case of the sale of vacant land, the law fixes the price per acre; it prescribes the fees that should be charged. This price, these fees, are as unchangeable as are the mountains of the Commonwealth, until a law shall be passed to increase, diminish or abolish them. Therefore, there is but little analogy between the acts of an executor, an administrator or a guardian and a clerk, a subordinate officer, or even the head of the Department of Internal Affairs for by no act of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, or any of his subordinate officers, clerks or employes, could there be any change made in the price per acre for vacant land or the fees that are required by law to be paid upon the granting of warrants and patents.

Until this opinion was delivered by Justice Williams, it may be properly said that if land was vacant or unappropriated, any official, or citizen, or other person could buy it under the rules established by law.

In the case of Quin vs. Brady, 8th Watts and Sergeants, page 141, it was decided that there was never any law or regulation of the Land Office that forbade any deputy surveyor or county surveyor to acquire title to vacant land, and in the case of Strimpfler vs. Roberts, 18th Pennsylvania, page 288, the right of a clerk in the Land Office to acquire title to vacant land was clearly recognized. The opinion of Justice Williams is not assailed. Since this opinion was promulgated the career of this distinguished jurist has been ended by his death, but there were some mistakes in his opinion as to facts which ought not to go undenied. Among other things, it is set forth in his opinion that the Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs was clothed with all the powers of the Secretary of Internal Affairs; that he had a right to grant warrants and patents, although nowhere in any of the laws that had been passed at that time were such powers given, and, indeed, no such power was ever exercised by the Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs until after the promulgation of the opinion of the Supreme Court in this case. In all the history of the Land Office the chief clerk never granted original papers, never was authorized and never attempted to exercise any such powers, and after the formation of the Department of Internal Affairs a law was passed that the chief clerk under the Surveyor General, should be hereafter known as Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs, but no additional powers were given him. Not until the passage of the act of 1897 did the Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs have power to sign warrants or grant patents. To this extent, therefore, Justice Williams was in error as to facts.

A new law thus enunciated by this Supreme Court decision deprived me of not only the property which I had purchased of the State, but also of the money which I had paid into the State Treasury to represent the purchase money and office fees. Had I originally paid the purchase money and allowed the application to be made in some other name, I would undoubtedly have acquired my share of the vacant land applied for, but it seemed more honorable to me that if I were to be interested in the purchase of vacant land of the State, my name should appear in the records. This much as to the legal proposition of the right of a State officer to acquire title to vacant land.

On the question of location raised in this case, it is proper to say that before the opinion of Justice Williams was given to the public, the attorney for Mr. Goodyear appeared in the Department and filed an application for the identical tract of land for which I had previously made an application, from which act it would appear that the plaintiff in the case had confessedly abandoned his idea of location. I had not even learned that the opinion of the court was against my rights until I learned it from the attorney representing Mr. Goodyear, who filed the application.

The two surveyors to whom I have referred had applications prepared in case the decision of the Supreme Court should be against me, but as no publicity was given to the decision of the Supreme Court, or at least none reached them until after the application was filed by Mr. Goodyear's attorney, they also lost their rights which they supposed they had secured under the applications heretofore referred to as having been filed by me at their instance.

I have thought for years that before leaving this office it was my duty to place upon the public records of this Department a brief history of this case.

COPYING OF SURVEYS.

In 1833 an act was passed authorizing and requiring the Surveyor General to copy old and mutilated surveys in some convenient form and in such a manner as to secure the data for future generations in the best manner possible.

In conformity with this act, it was decided that these surveys should be copies on the best paper obtainable, and when copied should be bound in book form.

Up to the time that I came into this office and assumed immediate charge of the detail workings of the Department, there had been copied in this manner 8,029 surveys. Since the first of May, 1887, the time when I entered this office, there have been copied 26,359 small surveys, 1,426 of the large surveys relating to the seventeen certified townships of Luzerne county, other large drafts 1,684, or a total of 29,469, more than three times the number that had been copied in the history of the office from 1833 to 1887.

Every effort has been made to advance this most necessary work as rapidly as possible. In our annual reports an effort has been made to impress upon the General Assembly the necessity of giving the most careful and prompt attention to this, of all State work, the most essential. No one except the experienced land lawyers and surveyors can in even an approximate way realize the loss it would be to the people of this Commonwealth to have these survey records either destroyed by fire, or so far mutilated and lost as to destroy their utility. It has been most difficult to make a proper impression upon the legislative branch of the State Government in order that this most imperative work should be accomplished.

It is possible that during my term of office more could have been done with the force in the employ of the office, and yet it has seemed that every exertion possible has been put forth to make effectual the laws that were passed to preserve these valuable records.

During the year covered by this report, the draftsmen and clerks in the office who have been able to do drafting have copied surveys as follows:

J. Sutton Wall, 100 large drafts.
J. U. Gill, 192 large drafts.
J. U. Gill, 440 small drafts.
J. H. Campbell, 485 small drafts.
William E. Lewis, 380 small drafts.
R. O. Stuckenrath, 565 small drafts.
Blanch E. Butler, 1,022 small drafts.
Total, 3,184 all classes.

Some of these employes have had more time to devote to drafting than others, and it is also proper to add that the large drafts which have been copied by Messrs. Wall and Gill involve a very much larger amount of work than the small surveys. The utmost care has been taken, and those who have performed this work are entitled to much credit. Indeed, the officers, clerks and employes of the Department are generally efficient and have rendered the State good and valuable services.

It would probably be useless to make any recommendation at this time, but duty will not be discharged unless we say that a law should be passed which would increase the drafting force to at least five additional persons, for if the employes who can copy these surveys and an additional five draughtsmen were to be constantly employed for ten years, it would be difficult for them to copy all the records contemplated in the act passed fifty or sixty years ago, and which up to this time, has been executed to only a small degree.

The advancement of the work of the copying of surveys, to which reference has been made, is only an index to the increase of work that has come to the Department in all its branches in the last ten or twelve years. The Legislature has imposed new duties upon the Department, new bureaus have been created, and the work many times multiplied. The utmost care has been exercised in order that the interests of the people of the Commonwealth should be conserved in the best manner possible.

In this connection, it is proper to say that there are some questions of salaries which ought to be regulated or readjusted. The chief clerk of the office receives the same salary as other clerks, but his services are of such a character that he ought to receive a mugh higher compensation than $1,400 a year. No more faithful public official ever served the Commonwealth than the Honorable Theodore B. Klein, chief clerk of the Department of Internal Affairs, and if the Legislature could be prevailed upon to give heed to a just demand, it would provide a higher salary for the person who fills the position of chief clerk of this Department.

BUREAU OF RAILWAYS.

Under the Constitution and the laws of the Commonwealth, annual reports are made to the Bureau of Railways, covering the business operations, capitalization and financial resources of steam and street railways, telegraph, telephone and canal companies. The Bureau of Railways also exercises a limited supervision over the public services of these corporations, investigates complaints and determines whether or not such complaints should be certified to the Attorney General's Department for the action of the law officer of the Commonwealth. All the reports thus made to the Department and the complaints investigated are carefully considered and data from the reports compiled and published in Volume IV of the Department Reports.

During the session of the Legislature of 1901, several important measures were passed relating to the incorporation, liquidation, operation and maintenance of these public corporations, and copies of these enactments are published in the volume referred to.

BUREAU OF INDUSTRIAL STATISTICS.

Under the act of 1874, passed in pursuance of the provision of the Constitution, a Bureau in the Department of Internal Affairs was established. It seems to have been the purpose of the lawmakers to establish a Bureau in this Department which should inquire into the condition of the laboring classes of the Commonwealth and from time to time make such recommendations for legislation looking to their welfare as circumstances might warrant. The scope of this Bureau has been enlarged in that it takes into consideration also the industrial development of the Commonwealth. Particular attention is given in this Bureau to the annual production of all the great manufacturing corporations of the Commonwealth, the number of employes, compensation, and other important subjects which relate to the world-famed industries of Pennsylvania.

The reports of this Bureau contain a compilation of data on the subjects above referred to and the whole is published as Volume III of the Department Reports.

BUREAU OF MINES.

Under the act of 1897 provision was made for the establishment of a Bureau of Mines in the Department of Internal Affairs. A chief mine inspector was provided for and a limited clerical force. Supervision is given to the Chief of the Bureau of Mines over the inspectors in the anthracite and bituminous regions of the Commonwealth, with a view of enforcing strictly the laws of the Commonwealth looking to the safety of employes in the mines of the State.

During the session of 1901 the number of mine inspectors was increased, as it was claimed greater protection could be given to the miners if there were more frequent visitations of the mines by the inspectors. Certain it is that the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania has been mindful of the men whose avocations are beneath the surface of the earth, mining coal that the commerce of the country may be carried on. Many thousands of dollars are each year expended for their protection, and although their employment is necessarily a hazardous one, it is believed that it is the desire of the legislative branch of the State Government that all should be done that can be done to insure the greatest freedom from accidents.

For all references to the laws governing the mining interests of Pennsylvania, and especially those passed at the session of 1901, and also for details of operation of the Bureau of Mines, your attention is directed to the Report of the Bureau of Mines, designated as Part V of the Reports of the Department of Internal Affairs.

Before closing this report, it seems entirely proper that the attention of the Commission appointed to construct the new Capitol Building should be again called to the necessity of constructing fire-proof apartments for the records in the Department of Internal Affairs, especially those contained in the Land Bureau. The importance of this matter cannot be too strongly emphasized. The following is a copy of a communication addressed to the Secretary of the Capitol Building Commission, Mr. E. C. Gerwig:

August 29, 1901.

"Mr. E. C. Gerwig, Secretary Capitol Building Commission, Harrisburg, Pa.:

Dear Sir: I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of August 27th, and in reply to say that the amount of space now required, and which will within the next decade probably be required, by the Department of Internal Affairs with its several Bureaus and its accumulation of valuable documents, is as follows:

First. A fire-proof room for the preservation of surveys, returns, patents and warrants should be provided occupying a space of at least sixty feet square. Within this room would be kept all the colonial records, the land titles given by the proprietaries and also those given by the State after the lands within the domain of the State were acquired by the Penn family. In a historical sense and in the way of adjusting and settling disputes that may arise with reference to land titles, these documents are the most valuable papers concerning the State of Pennsylvania now in existence, and the necessity of constructing apartments for their preservation cannot be too strongly emphasized. I know of no words in the English language that can too strongly express the necessity for the preservation of these records. That they have been kept until this time from the destruction of fire is almost marvelous. The necessity of making proper provision for their safety is of the utmost importance.

Second. Apartments for the Bureau of Assessments and Taxes occupying a space of at least thirty feet square, divided into two rooms of about equal size.

Third. Apartments for the records of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, occupying a space of thirty feet square.

Fourth. Apartments for the Bureau of Industrial Statistics occupying a space of sixty feet by twenty-five feet, divided into two rooms.

Fifth. Apartments for the Bureau of Railways occupying a space of sixty feet by forty feet, divided into two rooms.

Sixth. Apartments for the Bureau of Mines and Geology occupying a space of sixty feet by twenty-five feet, divided into three rooms. In connection with this Bureau it is proper to state that the Commonwealth should provide a room of proper size within which there should be exhibited, in connection with the Bureau of Mines, specimens of the mineral resources of the Commonwealth, and this room should be at least sixty by thirty feet.

Seventh. If the Weather Service Bureau should be continued, apartments for that Bureau should also be arranged occupying a space of thirty-five by twenty feet. This Bureau ceased to be operated some two or three years ago for a failure on the part of the Legislature to make the usual appropriation for its maintenance.

Eighth. One well lighted room occupying a space of fifty feet by forty feet for drafting purposes. Under the laws of this Commonwealth this Department is required to continue the copying of old surveys and records under the provisions of the act of 1833, and it is necessary to have well lighted apartments to insure successful results.

Ninth. One room well lighted occupying a space of twenty by twenty feet for the comparing of original surveys, patents, warrants and other Land Office records with copies that may be made for the permanent use of the Commonwealth or for the demands of the public.

Tenth. One apartment for the Deputy Secretary of Internal Affairs occupying a space of twenty-five feet by thirty feet.

Eleventh. One apartment for the Secretary of Internal Affairs occupying a space of twenty-five feet by thirty feet.

Twelfth. Closets to be arranged on the first and second floors of the proposed building, and suitable arrangements in the basement for storing documents and records not in frequent use. A large portion of the basement should be devoted to this purpose.

Thirteenth. One room occupying a space of twenty feet by twenty feet for a stenographer's room, the Department having three stenographers constantly employed.

In making this estimate of space for the needs of this Department, I have only considered the Bureaus now in existence, and have not taken into consideration any space that may be required for any Bureaus that may be hereafter added to the Department.

In giving the dimensions of the rooms, the figures are not intended to indicate any arbitrary length and breadths, but what I desire to express is that the amount of space shown by the dimensions will be required.

The arrangement of the rooms with reference to shape and location, I understand will be decided by the architect.

In giving the space as indicated by this letter, to comply with the requirements of this Department, I have not taken into consideration the space that will be necessarliy taken up by halls, courts, corridors, etc.

Very truly yours,

ISAAC B. BROWN,
Deputy Secretary."

All has been done now that can be done to give notice of the necessities of this Department with reference to fire-proof apartment within which to keep the sacred records of the Land Office. This communication is inserted in this report with a view of giving the necessities of the case publicity so that there can never hereafter be any claim put forth that those in charge of the Department did not do all that could be done to provide for fire-proof apartments within which the records of this office could be kept free from destruction by fire.

BOUNDARY LINES AND BOUNDARY LINE MONUMENTS.

Under the act of 1899 provision was made for the resurvey of the boundary line between the States of Maryland and Pennsylvania. Concurrent legislation was passed by both Maryland and Pennsylvania to resurvey the line, repair monuments and set new monuments where necessary. By an agreement made with the State of Maryland this work of resurveying and remarking the boundary line between these two States was given to the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey.

A great portion of the work has been performed, but it could not be completed until next spring, hence the report and the details of operation of the resurvey of this boundary line cannot be given in this report.

At the close of the last annual report of this Department, an examination of the boundary line monuments between Pennsylvania and New York had been completed by the joint action of the proper authorities in both States. This report, however, was not properly written up by the Commissioners appointed by the two States, and was, therefore, not included in the report for last year.

The details of the investigation are submitted herewith, and from this report the condition of the boundary line monuments and the work done in connection with them, will be easily ascertained. The report of the Commission is as follows:

JOINT REPORT ON THE MONUMENTS MARKING THE BOUNDARY LINE BETWEEN THE STATE OF NEW YORK AND PENNSYLVANIA.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 30, 1900.

Hon. James W. Latta, Secretary of Internal Affairs:

Sir: We, the undersigned have the honor to submit this, our joint report on the condition of the monuments marking the boundary line between the States of New York and Pennsylvania undertaken in pursuance of the following articles of agreement.

Whereas, By virtue of the provisions of Chapter 421, of the Laws of the State of New York, the State Engineer and Surveyor is authorized and required during the year 1887 and every third year thereafter, to cause to be made an examination and inspection of the boundary line monuments between that State and other States adjoining, and is further required to make a detailed report of such inspection and examination; and is further authorized and required to co-operate with the proper authorities of such adjoining States in the examination and inspection and in the restoring and replacing of boundary line monuments, where they need to be restored or replaced, and is clothed with full authority to represent the State of New York in co-operating with other States in discharging the duties hereinbefore referred to regarding boundary line monuments; and

Whereas, Similar duties are imposed upon the Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by the second section of the act of the General Assembly, approved May 4, 1889, entitled "An act relative to the boundary lines and boundary line monuments," directing his co-operation with the proper authorities in any of the adjoining States in re-establishing, by surveys or otherwise, of the boundary lines, the erection of new monuments to mark their location, repairing, resetting or renewing of the old monuments when found necessary; and by virtue of said act is fully empowered to represent and act for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, by the employment of such means as may be necessary in the premises, when from the reports of the county commissioners of said Commonwealth, or from other information satisfactory to him, it is found there is a necessity for the resurvey and relocation of said boundary lines, in whole or in part, or whenever any of the boundary line monuments are in such condition as to require resetting, replacing or renewing; and

Whereas, By virtue of the laws referred to in the two States named, the said State officers are required to co-operate with each other and act jointly in the examination and inspection, and, when found necessary, in resetting, replacing and renewing of monuments and in the re-establishing of the boundary lines between said States; and

Whereas, It appears from the examinations made in the years 1890, 1893 and 1896 that these monuments are displaced in whole or in part frequently by the action of frost, floods and by other causes, making their frequent examination desirable to the end that they may be maintained in their proper position and condition; and it appearing that the welfare of the two States named will be conserved by an examination and inspection of said boundary line monuments during the present year, and by virtue of the duties imposed upon the officers named by the respective States, as appears from the enactments in part recited; therefore,

It is agreed by and between the undersigned, acting in conformity with the authority conferred, as hereinbefore stated, that L. K. Devendorf, representing the State of New York, under appointment made by Edward A. Bond, State Engineer and Surveyor of the said State of New York, and J. Herman Terry, representing the State of Pennsylvania, under appointment made by James W. Latta, Secretary of Internal Affairs of the said State of Pennsylvania, shall be empowered, and by these presents, are hereby empowered, to cause to be repaired, reset and replaced any of the said boundary line monuments, which in their judgment may need to be so repaired, reset or replaced; and

It is further agreed that the parties herein named shall have full authority to represent the respective States in the discharge of the duties herein imposed, limiting the scope of their authority, however, to the examination of the boundary line monuments between the two States, and to the replacing, resetting and repairing of such monuments, as in their opinion should be replaced, reset or repaired, and to the furnishing and setting of new monuments where the old ones are so far mutilated and destroyed as to render them unserviceable; it being understood that in case the examination and inspection, to be made, shall disclose the fact that there is a necessity for the resurveying of any part of the said boundary line, for the purpose of determining its location, the engineers appointed as aforesaid, shall have no authority to make such survey until they shall have first reported the conditions to the parties hereto, which conditions, in their opinion, render such a resurvey a necessity, nor until written authority signed by both of the parties hereto shall be given them, authorizing such resurvey; and

It is further agreed that the engineers herein referred to and appointed under the authority mentioned, shall proceed at once to the discharge of the duties as set forth, and shall diligently prosecute the work of examination and inspection and the discharge of the other duties to be done and performed, in order that the work shall be completed at as early a day as practicable; and,

It is further agreed that upon the completion of the work provided for in this agreement, a full report shall be prepared of their operations, which report shall give in detail the location and condition of each monument and other interesting data pertaining thereto, as well as a statement of such action as may have been taken in regard to the same, such report to be made in duplicate, each to be signed by both the engineers, one to be filed with the State Engineer and Surveyor of the State of New York, at Albany, and the other to be filed with the Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, at Harrisburg; and

It is further agreed that the actual expenses incurred in the discharge of the duties herein referred to shall be borne equally by the two States in interest, except so far as may relate to the compensation of the two engineers referred to, which compensation is to be arranged by each State separately, and that all expenses be accounted for in verified statements, and, so far as practicable, supplemented by receipted vouchers from parties to whom disbursements have been made.

In witness whereof, Edward A. Bond, State Engineer and Surveyor of the State of New York, and James W. Latta, Secretary of Internal Affairs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, have hereunto set their hands and caused the seals of their respective Departments to be hereunto affixed this ..... day of ....., A. D. 1900.

EDWARD A. BOND,
State Engineer and Surveyor.

Secretary of Internal Affairs

Monuments marking this line are divided into six classes.

First Class—Highway Monuments.

These are placed at highways intersecting or following the boundary line. Milestones placed alongside highways are of this class. These monuments are four and one-half feet long; the top is dressed rectangular, twelve inches by six inches, and at right angles across the centre; parallel with the edges are cut two quarter-inch grooves; the upper end of each side to the depth of twelve inches is also dressed, and upon on broad (north) face is cut the letters "N. Y." and upon the other (south) the letters "Pa." The milestones of this class are further marked with the number of the original mile monument and the letter "M." These monuments weigh from 375 to 500 pounds. In setting monuments of this class, the longer groove was placed in the direction of the boundary.

Second, Third and Fourth Classes.

Monuments of the second, third and fourth classes are four feet long, the top is dressed six inches square, and the upper end of each side is also dressed to the depth of six inches. These monuments weigh from 170 to 220 pounds.

Monuments of the second class are placed at the original mile points, which are not marked by monuments of the first or fourth classes. Across the top at right angles and parallel with the faces, are cut two quarter-inch grooves; on opposite faces are cut the letters "N. Y." (north) and "Pa." (south), and upon a third (east face) the number of the original monument, with the letter "M." under it.

Monuments of the third class are similar in all respects to monuments of the second class, with the exception that the number upon the third face is omitted except in a few instances. They are placed at railway and river intersections and at such other points as were deemed necessary. Monuments of the second and third classes are set so that the faces containing the letters "N. Y." and "Pa." are parallel with the boundary.

Monuments of the fourth class have cut, diagonally across their top two quarter-inch grooves, and they are set so that one of the diagonal grooves is in the direction of the boundary. The faces are especially lettered. These monuments are generally milestones marking the town or county corners; the face of the stone toward the town or county is marked with the initial letter of the name.

Fifth Class.

Monuments of this class are placed to mark astronomical stations of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, occupied in 1877 and 1879. Each monument is a block of granite of the general dimensions of twelve inches square and eighteen inches or more deep. The top is dressed and the station point is marked upon it in the center by a cross (X). Upon the top are also cut the name of the station, the letters "U. S. C." and "G. S." and the year in which the station was occupied. The monuments of this class were not examined as they are all buried beneath the surface.

Sixth Class.

These monuments are made from a 5 foot section of a 5 inch by 3 inch I beam, on the bottom of which is bolted a plate whose dimensions are ¼x8x10 inch. On the north and south faces of the monument are rivetted two nickel plates bearing the words New York and Pennsylvania.

Generally speaking, the monuments marking this boundary were monuments were found chipped in many instances, owing, no doubt, to travel, and to malicious persons. The corners and sides of these are situated along well-traveled highways, and are thus exposed found to be in a good state of preservation. A large percentage inclined. A few have doubtless been cracked and broken by the to the depredations of souvenir hunters and persons maliciously action of fire, others by the felling of trees. A great many are heaved by the action of frost, some badly and others not enough to impair their integrity. So far as these are concerned, we have used our best judgment in reporting the monuments to be reset.

The examination of the line in the vicinity of Bradford, Pa., i. e., about twelve miles east and west, becomes harder and more expensive each time. This is due to the nature of the country, which is not easy of access on account of the scarcity of wagon roads. The locality through which the line runs has been nearly stripped of large timber, the line trees going with the rest. The tops are left and a great many windfalls cover the ground. A large forest fire has lately visited this region, and the whole country is thickly overgrown by briars, alders and blackberry bushes, from three to ten feet high. This makes a compass line necessary for about twenty-two miles and the consequent chaining of the distance. When the stones are found, there is nothing to which to reference them, nothing by which a distinctive description can be made, thus making it equally hard for the next examination. For a distance of about twenty miles, the country is practically a waste and jungle, and only the most careful efforts discover the stones.

After due consideration has been given the subject, we have decided that the only practical way to better the condition is to re-run the line through the thickly wooded part and blaze the trees along the line. Through the wilderness about Bradford, where no trees can be blazed, build large indication marks about the monument. These marks to consist of a tripod and a mast. The mast could be seen above the tops of the bushes, and thus save the examiners great trouble and a corresponding amount of time in finding the stones. These signals could be repaired or rebuilt at each successive examination, thus securing a permanent identification of the line through this part of the country.

In the vicinity of stones surrounded by trees, witness hacks have been made, and such other reference marks as were possible under the circumstances.

The descriptions following have been changed from those written at the time of the last examination, to meet the new conditions. They are as definite and concise as the conditions would permit. The following stones were reset: Nos. 38, 68, 79, 87, 183, 188, 236, 243, 477, 482, 504, 505, 511, 516. Steel monuments were set as follows: Nos. 125, 132, 280a, 325, 359a, 379a, 512a.

THE RESPONSIBILITY OF THE COMMONWEALTH WITH REFERENCE TO BRIDGES.

While the building of bridges may be somewhat foreign to the business of the Department of Internal Affairs, yet the Department has so much to do with reference to assessments and taxes that it does not seem entirely improper to refer to the responsibility which has been placed upon the Commonwealth by the recent legislation relative to the construction of new bridges, where those heretofore existing have been destroyed by fire or by any other means.

The importance of the subject is made more apparent when it is known that a very large majority of the bridges which span not only the navigable rivers of the Commonwealth, but the streams that have been declared public highways, are a State charge should they be destroyed by any means whatever.

The Legislature, at its sessions of 1895 (See Pamphlet Laws page 130), passed an act, the title of which is as follows: "An act authorizing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania to rebuild county bridges over navigable streams and other streams which have been declared public highways by act of Assembly, where such bridges have been destroyed by flood, fire or other casualty, providing for the appointment of viewers and inspectors and the payment of cost of building such bridges."

By this act in certain cases therein described the Commonwealth is required to defray the expense of replacing bridges which may be destroyed.

In legislation passed subsequent to the act of the session of 1895, provision is made whereby the county commissioners may adopt bridges within their jurisdiction as county bridges, and when so adopted become subject to the provisions of the act of 1895 so far as relates to the responsibility of the State to rebuild them in case of destruction. It will be seen, therefore, that all the larger bridges which span the great and the small streams of the Commonwealth that have been declared public highways are, or may become, a charge upon the Commonwealth, and no small part of the revenues which the Commonwealth shall hereafter receive will, of necessity, be devoted to the construction of bridges, an expense which the Commonwealth had never before assumed except in certain specified cases, prior to the act of 1895. A flood such as the Johnstown, which might occur at any time, would, therefore, be an almost unbearable burden upon the State financial affairs, for it is not only the great bridges, costing in some instances tens of thousands of dollars, but also the smaller bridges that span the smaller streams that have been declared public highways, which come under this law. It must also be remembered that while streams have been declared public highways, this does not mean that these streams are necessarily navigable for such purposes as the term would seem to imply, for streams have been declared public highways for the sole purpose of floating logs, timber and rafts, yet they come within the purview of the law as it now exists.

To give a more comprehensive idea of the responsibility of the Commonwealth in this line, a somewhat hasty examination has been made of the statutes of the Commonwealth, to show what streams have been declared public highways. It will be a surprise to every reader of this article to learn of the great number of such streams as shown in the list appended hereto:

PART II.

ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES.

1 B.—7—1901

ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES.

Under the act of 1874, section one, Pamphlet laws 193, the county commissioners of each county in the State are required to make out in tabular form, by assessment districts, a statement of all property for taxable purposes. In this statement shall be exhibited the real and personal property in separate columns, the amount of taxes assessed for county purposes, and also the county debt, all of which shall be arranged in concise and comprehensive manner and furnished the Secretary of Internal Affairs, to be published in his annual reports.

The county commissioners are also required, under the provisions of the act of 1889, Pamphlet Laws 157, to procure from the township, city, ward and county officers full and complete returns, and show the entire amount of taxes levied and collected or worked out for the maintenance of said county, city, ward, borough and township governments. Under the same act the duty is imposed of arranging the information thus collected, first, to show the amount of taxes collected for the support of the poor; second, the total amount of the taxes collected for the construction and repairs of roads and bridges; third, the amount of taxes collected each year on personal property, occupations, trades, emoluments; fourth, the amount of taxes collected on real estate and railroad corporations, and, fifth, the amount of taxes collected on real estate of corporations other than railroads.

To facilitate the execution of these laws, the Secretary of Internal Affairs furnishes each board of county commissioners with blanks upon which the consolidated data called for may be arranged and transmitted to this office for further consolidation, classification and arrangement for publication. The details given from each of the counties of the Commonwealth, and, indeed, from each assessment district in the Commonwealth, can be found in the tabulations in Part II of this Report. Some deductions from these reports are fraught with interest, especially to those who make a study of the different problems of taxation in our Commonwealth.

Adams County.

The total number of taxables in this county is 12,739. The report shows that the county has 263,982 acres of cleared land, and 49,405 acres of timber land.

The value of its real estate, including that taxable and that exempt from taxation, is $11,723,310. The real estate exempt from taxation is valued at $476,995, while the value of real estate taxable is $11,246,315.

In this county there are 10,176 animals assessed as horses, mules, etc., over the age of four years, the total valuation of these being $340,878. In addition to these animals, the report shows 9,327 head of neat cattle above the age of four years with a valuation of $209,431.

There is assessed in this county as value of salaries and emoluments of office, trades and occupations, $405,104.

The aggregate value of all property taxable for county purposes is $12,201,728.

The value of stages, omnibuses, hacks and cabs in the entire county is reported to be but $2,494, making a total of $2,334,988. This must be a gross undervaluation, as in the town of Gettysburg alone there must be ten times this value of this species of property that is used by the public in visiting the renowned battlefield.

The aggregate amount of State tax assessed in Adams county for the year was $9,339. The county has a bonded indebtedness of $9,000.

During the year covered by this report, Adams county expended $14,400 for the support of the poor and $939 for repairs of bridges as a county charge. It collected in taxes for the construction and repairs of streets and roads $36,464; for the support of the schools, $37,286, for county and other purposes, $41,022, or a total for all purposes in the county of $130,112.

A classification as required by the act hereinbefore referred to shows that there were taxes collected on personal property to the amount of $49,827; on occupations, $35,650; on licenses, $9,297. Taxes collected locally from railroad corporations, $108, while $682 was the amount collected locally from other corporations than railroads.

It cannot be possible that the gross undervaluation of this class of property is avoided in the other items to which reference has been made.

The aggregate amount of State tax is $449,936. Allegheny county has a bonded indebtedness of $3,162,558.

For the support of the poor there was collected as a direct tax $160,509. In addition to this amount there was appropriated by the city of Pittsburg $167,861, and by the city of Allegheny $76,610. placed at $108,833. Comment upon this is unnecessary, but it is difficult to pass an item of taxation where the failure to properly assess property is so apparent. As to assume that in the county of Armstrong there are practically only $100,000 worth of cattle above the age of four years is too ridiculous to receive consideration.

Value of salaries and emoluments in office in the county are reported to be $546,364.

The aggregate value of all property taxable for county purposes is $11,702,884. The total amount of county tax levied was $87,571.

The aggregate amount of State taxes assessed in the county during the year was $5,837. The county has an indebtedness of $103,300.

Looking at the returns of the amount of taxes collected for the different purposes it is found that the maintenance of the poor during the year cost the county $21,929. The county has collected for the purpose of the construction and repairs of streets, roads, etc., $28,769; for the support of schools, $54,826; for other purposes $78,086, while the total amount of taxes for all purposes amounts to $183,611.

The number of horses and mules is 6,403, upon which a valuation is placed of $106,000; number of cattle 10,318, valued at $72,312. Salaries and emoluments of office are valued at $166,817, making a total value of property subject to county taxation of $4,266,910, from which a county tax is derived of $34,295.

The amount of money at interest is $1,153,541, values of stages, omnibuses, etc., $1,200, making a total of $1,154,741 subject to State taxation, from which a tax is derived of $4,618. The county has a debt of $15,450.

The support of the poor cost the county $18,019, maintenance of streets and roads $46,079, schools $47,797, other purposes $55,552, making a total for all purposes of $167,448.

Of these taxes $10,117 were raised from personal property, $6,065 from occupations, $14,223 from licenses, $3,988 from the real estate of railway corporations, and $6,198 from the real estate of corporations other than railways.

In Wayne county the per capita of tax for the support of the poor is 60 cents, for streets and roads $1.53, for schools $1.58, for other purposes $1.84, or a total per capita for all purposes of $5.55.

Of the total taxes collected 11 per cent. was devoted to the support of the poor, 28 per cent. to streets and roads, 28 per cent. to schools and 33 per cent. to other purposes.

Westmoreland County.

The prodigious strides this county has been making from a commercial standpoint are clearly shown in the report of the Commissioners, whose return shows the number of taxables to be 49,523, number of acres of cleared land 440,919, and the number of acres of timber land 135,013.

All real estate is valued at $64,848,818, of which $2,440,190 is exempt from taxation, leaving $62,408,628 as the value of property taxable.

The county has 17,700 horses and mules, valued at $679,923, and 15,104 cattle, valued at $294,011. Value of salaries and emoluments of office is given at $2,593,195, making an aggregate of property taxable for county purposes of $65,975,757, which produced a county tax of $230,915.

The amount of money at interest is given as $7,886,368, value of stages, omnibuses, etc., at $20,442. Here, too, is found something of an effort to return stages, omnibuses, etc., at something near their actual value. The total value of property subject to State taxation is therefore $7,906,810, from which there is due a tax of $31,627. Another feather of the financial welfare of this county is exhibited in the fact that it has no indebtedness.

Forty-one thousand dollars is the amount of money raised in this county for the support of the poor, $248,745 for maintenance and construction of streets and roads, $252,216 for schools, $221,351 for the support of the county government and other purposes, making a total for all purposes of $763,314.

Of the total amount of taxes raised, $35,045 was from personal property, $9,948 from occupations, $11,555 from licenses, $847 from the real estate of railway corporations, and $1,518 from the real estate of corporations other than railways. It must be that in this county there is an error as to the amount of money collected from the real estate of corporations other than railways, and it must also be that there are other counties in which the commissioners fail to get at the exact amount that is derived in the way of tax from railway and other corporations.

Of the taxes collected in this county there is a per capita of 25 cents for the support of the poor, $1.55 for streets and roads, $1.59 for schools, $1.38 for other purposes, or a total for all purposes of $4.77.

Five per cent. of the entire taxes collected were devoted to the support of the poor, 32 per cent. to streets and roads, 33 per cent. to schools and 30 pr cent. for other purposes.

Wyoming County.

The number of taxables in this county is 6,067, number of acres of cleared land 102,795, and the number of acres of timber land 77,430.

All real estate is valued at $3,679,095, real estate exempt from taxation $251,175, leaving real estate taxable $3,427,920.

There are 3,546 horses and mules, valued at $82,160, and 4,869 cattle, valued at $48,750. Salaries and emoluments of office are valued at $83,415, making a total of property subject to county taxation of $3,642,245, from which a county tax is derived of $29,137.

There are no stages and omnibuses returned from this county, but the amount of money at interest is given as $854,550, from which a tax of $3,417 is derived. The county debt is $36,000.

In Wyoming county there was collected for the support of the poor $8,733, for the maintenance and construction of streets and roads $21,941, for the support of the schools $25,595, for other purposes $34,711, or a total for all purposes of $90,981.

Personal property produced a tax of $1,019, occupations $614, licenses $4,200, real estate of railwal corporations $45. No return is made of taxes collected from real estate of corporations other than railways.

The per capita tax in this county for the support of the poor is 51 cent, for streets and roads $1.28, for schools $1.49, for other purposes $2.02, or a total per capita for all purposes of $5.30.

Ten per cent. of the entire taxes collected were devoted to the support of the poor, 24 per cent. for streets and roads, 28 per cent. for schools and 38 per cent. for all other purposes.

York County.

There are 42,055 taxables in this county, 439,353 acres of cleared land, and 98,386 acres of timber land.

Real estate of all classes is valued at $45,261,778, real estate exempt from taxation $3,077,870, leaving real estate taxable $42,183,908.

There are 21,655 horses and mules, valued at $876,488, and 20,491 cattle, valued at $445,164. Salaries and emoluments of office are valued at $2,152,381, making an aggregate amount of property subject to county taxation of $45,657,941, upon which a tax is returned of $182,631.

The county has $11,114,667 of money at interest; value of its stages, omnibuses, etc., is $8,270, making the total valuation of property subject to State taxation $11,122,937, from which a State tax of $44,450 is derived. York county has an indebtedness of $495,000.

Thirty thousand dollars was raised in this county for the support of the poor, $203,829 for the maintenance and construction of streets and roads, $187,839 for the support of schools, $264,746 for the support of the county and for other purposes, the total for all purposes being $686,416.

Of these taxes $47,132 were collected from personal property, $9,402 from occupations, $50,689 from licenses and $138 from the real estate of railway corporations. No return is made by the commissioners of the amount of money collected as taxes from the real estate of corporations other than railways.

The per capita tax for the support of the poor is 26 cents, for streets and roads $1.75, for schools $1.61, for other purposes $2.27, or a total for all purposes of $5.89.

Four per cent. of the taxes collected were devoted to the support of the poor, 30 per cent. to streets and roads, 27 per cent. to schools and 39 per cent. to all other purposes.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS ON ASSESSMENTS AND TAXES.

Having examined the details of the returns from the county commissioners on all the subjects of investigation, both with reference to assessments and taxes, it is proper to make some general observations with reference to the character of the reports returned and the subjects to which the figures refer.

The number of taxables in the State is given at 1,957,278. We have no means of ascertaining how nearly the number of taxables returned in each county and the total as above given approach the actual number of taxables within the limits of the Commonwealth. As the number of taxables is one of the factors to determine the amount of the appropriation given to each school district, it may be assumed that there would be a disposition to swell the number at least to an approximation of the actual number in each assessment district. For if a less number were reported than the facts would warrant, the assessment district thus numbered would suffer a proportional amount of loss in its receipts from the appropriation made by the Legislature for the support of the common school system.

As to the number of acres of cleared and timber land, the reports of this office have contained many references showing the unreliability of the returns upon this subject. The county commissioners and the assessors are not altogether to blame for the conditions which exist. When the law was passed authorizing the commissioners to make returns upon these subjects, conditions were not the same as they are now. A very much larger territory of the State was then occupied by timber. Since that time the forests have been rapidly disappearing and the land thus denuded of forests can scarcely be classified as either timber land or cleared land, the valuable timber having been taken off, but nothing having been done to cultivate the land. Recommendations have heretofore been made that the act requiring returns to be made on this subject should be amended so that there should be a further classification, for hundreds of thousands of acres of land in this Commonwealth cannot properly be placed in either classification. If an investigation be made, therefore, of the returns of cleared land and timber land, it will be found that in most cases the aggregate of these two items will not equal the acreage of the county. Some assessors may classify land from which the timber has been cut as cleared land, others may entirely eliminate such lands from their returns, while others may classify lands from which timber has been cut as timber land. There being no rule established to control the action of assessors in the several assessment districts of the State, it follows of necessity that the figures returned are confusing and are entirely unreliable so far as the exact facts are concerned with reference to the number of acres of cleared and timber land in the State. According to the returns, however, as made, the number of acres of cleared land in the State is 16,098,272 and of timber land 8,977,682.

The value of all real estate in the Commonwealth is given at $3,218,593,792. This includes real estate, whether taxable or exempt from taxation, but we are unable to determine how near these figures approach to the actual valuation. It is a difficult problem to ascertain for the purpose of taxation, what the actual valuation of property is. It is true that the law requires an actual valuation, but the fatihful execution of the law is difficult, as in all cases dependence must be placed upon the fidelity of the assessor. His judgment may not be correct, he may have visionary views, and, in addition to this, assessors may be controlled by prejudice, by favoritism and possibly sometimes by improper motives, hence the totals which are given can scarcely be looked upon as reliable, especially in consideration of the fact that in some counties instructions are given by the county commissioners to assess real estate at a certain percentage of the actual valuation, instead of having it assessed, as the law requires, at its actual valuation. Unfortunately, little equity is used in disposing of questions relating to taxation. Most people seem to feel licensed to avoid true valuations when these values are to be used as a basis of taxation. Others wilfully misrepresent. Others cover up and in many ways take such action as will relieve them from their proper and equitable share of the burdens of both State and local taxation.

If a valuation were made of the real estate of this Commonwealth, based upon actual values, such as would be produced where one man wished to buy property that another man was willing to sell and where no other influences were brought to bear, such as incumbrances, etc., this might be taken as a proper basis, and it is safe to say that under such circumstances the total valuation of real estate returned to this office would be 50 per cent. higher than it is now. The valuation of real estate exempt from taxation in the Commonwealth is given as $327,461,732.

In some cases but a small amount is returned and it is presumed that in most cases the assessors make little effort to get at the actual value of property that is exempt from taxation.

The value of all real estate taxable is $2,891,132,060.

The number of horses, mules, geldings and mares over the age of four years, as returned to this office, is 612,695, and their total valuation is $26,397,907. Here, again, is a subject of taxation in regard to which there is great opportunity for evading the law. Horses and mules under the age of four years are not subject to taxation, hence there is a disposition to represent them as under the taxable age until their lives of usefulness and value have been well spent.

The total number of cattle over the age of four years is given at 643,119, and their valuation at $12,501,367. The observations with reference to horses and mules are equally applicable to the number and value of cattle.

Salaries and emoluments in the State are valued at $133,483,023. We have no means of determinnig here to what extent the amounts thus returned approach the actual value of these subjects of taxation.

The aggregate value of all property subject to taxation for county purposes in the several counties is given at $3,063,647,022, and the total amount of county tax derived therefrom is $23,316,797.

In the way of property subject to State taxation, the amount of money at interest, including judgments, bonds, stocks, etc., is $760,694,227 and the value of stages, omnibuses and hacks $654,702. There is evidently the most glaring violation of law in the returns which relate to the value of stages, omnibuses and hacks, and the sooner the laws authorizing the valuation of this property for taxation are wiped out the better it will be for the integrity of the Commonwealth and those executing its laws.

It goes without saying also that on the subject of money at interest there are great efforts put forth to evade taxation, although it must be assumed that since the passage of the act of 1885 and its supplements, more accurate returns have been made and a closer approach to the actual amount of money at interest has been secured than before the passage of this act. Before that time it was the general rule that the tax on money at interest was evaded.

The aggregate value of property in the State subject to State taxation, as money at interest, stages, omnibuses, hacks, etc., is given at $761,337,664, from which a State tax is derived of $3,055,208. It must be understood, of course, that under existing laws a portion of this money is returned to the counties from which it was collected.

The total amount of indebtedness of the several counties of the Commonwealth is $52,266,413.37.

In the entire Commonwealth the amount collected and expended for the support of the poor was $2,946,732, for the construction and repair of streets and roads $10,936,410, for the maintenance of the common school system, not including the money received from the State Treasury, was $14,001,441; for other purposes $30,856,147, making the total amount of taxes collected for all purposes $58,740,731.

Personal property in the Commonwealth has yielded a tax of $3,608,415, occupations a tax of $1,795,143, licenses $6,644,863.

The law requires a return to be made of the taxes collected on the real estate of railroad corporations, through local channels of taxation. It also requires that there shall be returned the amount of taxes collected upon the real estate of other corporations than railroads. It is clear, however, that in many of the counties this law is not faithfully executed. In some counties no return on this subject is made at all, and it is difficult at this time to believe that there is any county within the limits of Pennsylvania wherein corporations do not own real estate upon some of which taxes must of necessity be paid.

ASSESSMENT REPORTS.

The Following Returns made by the Commissioners of the several Counties of the Commonwealth, to the Secretary of Internal Affairs, for the Year 1901, Shows the Number of Taxables, the Number of Acres of Cleared and Timber Land, and the Amount at which all the Real and Personal Property, and the Matter and Things made Taxable by the Laws of this Commonwealth, were valued, and the Amount of Taxes Assessed Thereon for State and County Purposes, in the Various Assessment Districts of the Commonwealth, made Pursuant to the Several Acts of Assembly Relating Thereto.

The assessors of Greene county do not assess timber land separate. There is very little timber land in the county, and in all cases is assessed with the cleared land and valued the same, no farmer being able to tell how much of his farm is in timber.

The occupation tax, which is known in Lancaster as poll tax, aggregates $9,394. The custom for many years has been to assess each married man, not a freeholder, 25 cents poll or occupation tax, and each single man, not a freeholder, 50 cents poll or occupation tax. This tax is levied directly, without putting a valuation on the taxpayer's office, trade or occupation, and is not included in the above aggregate of county tax.
